

NHCS Magnet Schools

GREGORY SCHOOL OF SCIENCE, MATHEMATICS AND TECHNOLOGY

At Gregory, children experience a high-tech program that integrates science, math, and technology throughout the curriculum. The program also provides hands-on learning using diverse technologies including the AlphaSmart (a keyboarding device for word processing that enables students to work "on the go," much like a laptop computer), and digital cameras. Students use the Internet on a daily basis to search for information they use in science reports and multimedia presentations. Gregory has a Broadcasting Studio program. A magnet school since 1993, Gregory is New Hanover County's first magnet school in Wilmington.

RACHEL FREEMAN SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

Everything is engineered: the pencil, plastic bottles, TV remote controls, shoe laces, sunglasses, cell phones, rocket ships. Engineering is using math, science and technology to solve problems. Children are fascinated with building and taking things apart to see how they work. At Freeman, engineering projects use math, science, reading, social studies, art, music, and technology to motivate children. Learning about engineering will increase students' awareness of and access to scientific and technical careers. Freeman prepares students to be 21st Century citizens, where technological literacy is necessary.

SNIPES ACADEMY OF PERFORMING ARTS AND DESIGN

An education in the arts benefits society. It develops teamwork and collaboration, solves problems creatively, and enhances communication skills. The Snipes magnet school focus areas are centered on visual arts, drama and theater, dance/movement, and instrumental music. All students will have arts extension classes, including graphic design and computer art, painting, creative movement, costume and set design, creative writing and digital music experimentation. Snipes' arts and design focus creatively motivates students to learn the North Carolina Standard Course of Study in a new and exciting learning environment.
